As you are aware, the Self-reliant India campaign, “AatmaNirbhar Bharat” is a clarion call for the Vision of New India, triggering kick start of several indigenous initiatives under “Make in India” drive. One such Technology-driven and Domain-independent initiative called CollabFiles has been visualized, conceptualized, designed and developed by National Informatics Centre, for use by Government Organizations across the country.

2. CollabFiles (<https://collabfiles.nic.in>) is a web-based, cloud-enabled and scalable platform to create and manage documents and spreadsheets in a collaborative mode with a strategic control so that Government users can use it through secured and privileged access of Government e-mail account.

3. CollabFiles is enabled for use by Government officials and staff with Single-SignOn through Parichay (Government email) integration. Major features include Create and Manage Files & Folders, Tag files with meaningful Keywords, Multiple Search facilities to locate files, Create & Manage mail/phone Address book, Share&Collaborate on Documents & Spreadsheets.

4. CollabFiles is developed on Micro-Services Architecture and is currently deployed at NDC, Pune. The platform is integrated with NIC email & Sandes (the messaging app of Govt of India) and is further envisioned to include Creation & Sharing of eForms and Presentations. Integrations with e-Office, GovDrive (a storage platform to save and retrieve files) and Tejas are in progress.
