

Amal
Gandhi (12)

New Delhi, the 17th August 1962

G.S.R. 1165.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 4 and 7 of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 (13 of 1885) and in supersession of all existing orders on the subject, the Central Government hereby makes the following rules, namely:—

1. Short title and commencement.—(1) These rules may be called the Indian Wireless Telegraphy (Demonstration Licence) Rules, 1962.

(2) They shall come into force with effect from the date to be notified in the Gazette.

2. Definitions.—In these rules, unless the context otherwise requires,

(a) "dealer" means any person who deals in, or manufactures for gain, wireless sets;

(b) "demonstration" means the establishment, maintenance or working of a wireless set with a view to its sale;

(c) "form" means a form appended to these rules;

(d) "wireless set" means a wireless transmitter, vibrator receiver or a wireless transmitter incorporated in a single unit with a wireless receiver, but does not include a broadcast or television receiver set.

3. Licence required for demonstration.—No person shall demonstrate a wireless set except under and in accordance with the terms and conditions of a licence granted under these rules.

4. Application for licence.—(1) Any dealer who holds a possession licence granted by the Postmaster-General of the Posts and Telegraphs Circle concerned under the Indian Wireless Telegraphy Act, 1933, (17 of 1933), may apply to the Central Government in form A for the grant of a licence under these rules.

(2) No licence shall be granted under these rules unless a fee of Rs. 15 in the case of a licence valid for three months only or of Rs. 60 in the case of a licence valid for one year has been paid into the Reserve Bank of India or a Government Treasury to the credit of the account Head "LII-Misc., Receipts of the Wireless Planning and Coordination Organisation—Licence Fee".

5. A licence granted under these rules shall be in form B and shall be valid:—

(a) for the period specified therein which shall be either three months or one year, and

(b) for one State only, unless the Central Government grants special permission for the use of the licence in any other State.

6. Licence not transferable.—A licence granted under these rules shall not be transferable.

7. Conditions of licence.—Every licence granted under these rules shall also be subject to the following conditions, namely:—

(a) All demonstrations shall be carried on only on frequencies and emissions specified in the licence;

(b) all demonstrations shall be carried on between such hours as may be specified in the licence;

(c) the licensee or his authorised representative shall remain with the apparatus during the demonstration;

(d) any officer authorised by the Central Government in this behalf shall have the right to be present during the demonstration;

(e) the wireless set shall not be used for any purpose other than bona fide demonstration;

(f) the demonstration shall be carried on without causing interference to the working of any other wireless station and shall be closed down on demand made in this behalf by any wireless telegraph station licensed or worked by the Central Government or under its authority.

8. Indemnity.—The licensee shall indemnify the Central Government against all actions, claims and demands which may be brought or made by any person in respect of any injury arising from any act done in pursuance of the licence.

9. Cancellation of licence.—A licence granted under these rules may be cancelled for breach of any of the conditions of the licence after giving the licensee a reasonable opportunity to make his objections.

10. Cancellation in an emergency.—If the Central Government is satisfied that on account of public emergency or in the interest of public safety, it is necessary to do so, it may, in the case of a specified individual licensee, by notice in writing and in any other case by notice published in the Gazette of India addressed to all holders of licences, cancel the licence or all such licences.

11. No refund on cancellation.—Where any licence is cancelled under these rules, the fee paid therefor shall not be refundable.
